The run of good size Yellowfin has continued which is rewarding those braving the cold conditions heading out. The Bluefin have been elusive so far with a few caught around Bermagui and South but not in big numbers like we have seen in previous years. There have even been a few encounters up as far as Sydney so it will be interesting to see if they return in numbers.

Canberra had their Yellowfin Tournament last month with strong wind hampering their efforts and only 1 day open to fishing.

The NSWGFA AGM is on in a couple weeks at Terrigal and I look forward to catching up with those that are attending over the weekend.

Stay safe and tight lines
 Steve
