Well we wanted rain and wow didn't we get some. I don't think anyone will be complaining though and the great news is that all but a few of the fires that have plagued us all summer are now out. It is now time to rebuild those communities that have been devastated so hook up your boat, book a mooring or pen and travel this great coastline and enjoy some great fishing and hospitality at the upcoming tournaments or just for a weekend away.

As mentioned previously there will be no points accrued for January out of respect for those that endured the hardships of fighting and recovering from the fires. We have now resumed normal point score for Southern Zone and don't forget to log all of your club points for December and January to count towards the NSW 'Cock of the Walk' trophies.

Eden have their tournament on this weekend and as we all know this area was particularly hard hit by the fires so hopefully we will see plenty of support for the club this weekend. Bermagui will be holding their Bluewater comp in conjunction with the Alliance Tag and Release competition and the Southern Zone interclub on the 7th and 8th of March. This will be a huge weekend in Bermagui so get involved if you can.

As mentioned the Southern Zone Interclub is on the 7th and 8th of March and I have attached entry forms for all clubs. Please distribute these to your members and remember we need a minimum of 3 boats from each club to participate or the club will have to make up the difference in entry fees.

Jervis Bay have the Billfish Shootout on the 14th and 15th of next month which will be a great weekend. They have enjoyed some great fishing of late with sailfish even making a guest appearance.

Ulladulla held the Jess Sam's fundraiser weekend earlier this month and should be congratulated on raising in excess of $30,000 for the local RFS and charities, it was a very enjoyable weekend although it was cut short by the weather on Sunday. Congratulations to all that were involved in the organisation and all those that participated.

I have attached the updated calendar as well so please replace the old one n your websites and social media sites.

I am off to Port Stephens for the Interclub next week where we have teams from Shellharbour and Kiama that I know of competing, it would be great to see some more boats up there and you can enter as late as the briefing on Thursday night. Hopefully the weather is a huge improvement on last year and the fish are around in good numbers.

Stay safe and tight lines
 Steve
